1. The following is an Examiner's statement of reason for allowance: Claims 1, 3-22, 27-29, 31, 36-38 are considered allowable since when reading the claims in light of the specification, as per the MPEP §2111.01 or Toro Co. v. White Consolidated Industries Inc., 199 F.3d 1295, 1301, 53 USPQ2d 1065, 1069 (Fed. Cir. 1999), none of the references of record alone or in combination disclose or suggest the combination of limitations specified in the independent claims specifically wherein each of said prediction algorithms is trained and tested according to a second different distribution of the records of the data set in the complete database onto a training data set and a testing data set and each second different distribution being created as one of a random or pseudorandom distribution and the fitness score of each prediction algorithm corresponding to one of the different distributions of the complete data set on the training and the testing data sets being the probability of evolution of each prediction algorithm or of each said distribution of the complete data set on the training and testing data sets as cited in claim 1.

In claim 38, wherein each of said prediction algorithms is trained and tested according to a second different distribution of the records of the data set in the complete database onto a training data set and a testing data set and each second different distribution being created as one of a random or pseudorandom distribution and the fitness score of each prediction algorithm corresponding to one of the different distributions of the complete data set on the training and the testing data sets being the probability of evolution of each prediction algorithm or of each said distribution of the complete data set on the training and testing data sets, as defined at e.g., ¶¶ 31, 151-153, of the specification.

2. A practical application for the invention is disclosed at ¶139 for determining a set of genes and of the polymorphisms thereof which might be relevant as so called 'risk factors' for a biologic or pathologic condition.

3. The claimed storage medium has been interpreted as hardware as disclosed at ¶71 of the specification of the application.

5. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
